

Let's Sing! Singing Instruction

With Professional Theater Artist David Macaluso

Wednesday | 11:00 AM - 11:50 AM | Via Zoom and/or in-person

Instructor: David Macaluso

Singing has been essential to the fabric of human societies since the beginning. From lullaby's to learning our ABC's to singing to celebrating unions, accomplishments, and times of year-vocalizing has meaning to each of us. In this class, students will have the opportunity to learn all aspects of Singing from harmony, melody, pitch and tempo along with analyzing the role that singing plays in their lives, both personally and interpersonally.

Class will analyze how vocal activity affects one's mood. Will our music soothe, excite, or inspire? Students will learn singing techniques or improve upon their singing skills. If you're singing a folk tune, a lullaby, grand opera, music theatre or a rock tune, we will learn about healthy singing. We will learn the basics from matching pitch, listening, and posture to breathing, focus, and intention. We will do physical and technical warmups for your voice to ensure proper use and longevity. We will explore harmony; signing in two parts at once, maybe three! Can we achieve 4 part harmony? Join via zoom or at the BUE Studio and let's raise our voices TOGETHER in this interactive class! David Macaluso's degree in Singing along with his musical/stage performance and training make him an ideal instructor for this NEW class.
