SPORTS HISTORY: Rivalries

A sports rivalry is an intense competition between athletic teams or athletes, affecting participants, sports management, and fans, to varying degrees. In this class, the students will examine some of the most documented sports rivalries in America and in the wide world of sports. Instructor Jason Baron will present classic examples of how sports rivalries were encouraged to increase game attendance and television ratings. Students will assess how this affected players' performances and also how some athletes have overcome these rivalries. Students can participate in this interactive class in person or via Zoom in this hybrid model of instruction.
