

Performing Arts: Play & Scriptwriting

Thursday | 2:00 PM - 2:50 PM | Via Zoom and/or in-person

Instructor: David Macaluso

Calling all level of writers, word and scene creators, new and inspiring writers! In this class, we will learn about the technical aspects that writers can utilize for creatively writing the scenes and visions that are brewing in their minds.

From grammar and spelling to dramatic arcs and character development...students can use this class to develop the plots and characters of their imagination in a supportive way. Maybe you have already written a script or skit or a bit of Fan Fiction?

Bring in your writing and together we can use constructive criticism to find places for improvement. Use the techniques learned here to improve your own day to day writing or create that play or skit you've always dreamed of. THEN we will act out what we have created.
