Keeping track of our money and learning the ins and outs of personal finance is part of our every day. With a background in banking and teaching, Gina's finance class has quite the following. This interactive class offers students instruction for enhancing their knowledge of sound money management via such topics as investments, paying bills and purchases with credit vs. cash on hand, and instruction on steps to take to protect your identity and avoid the latest scams. New topics and aspects of managing personal finances will continue to be taught weekly.
